A world of opportunities await!

SCIS Pudong offers the above native language classes to all students of Shanghai. Classes are taught by experienced teachers from their respective home countries and held after school.

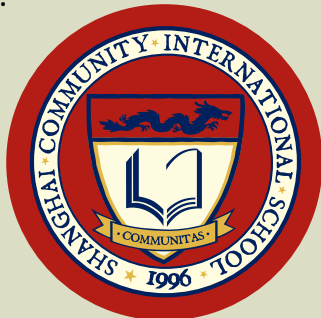

Look inside for more information on the opportunities available for your family.

At SCIS, we recognize that native language fluency is an important predictor for overall academic success. To help meet the needs of diverse learners, we provide after school mother tongue instruction in a variety of languages.

Our goal is to facilitate language instruction to the Shanghai community by providing foreign language teachers, resources, and a venue for students to continue developing their first language. The program aims to offer similar curriculum and instruction to what students would receive in their home country.

Lessons are differentiated across learning needs with instruction targeting reading, writing, and oral language. This focus in turn supports students' English language learning.

The language program provides a context for students and families to develop friendships and celebrate cultural traditions. We have found our language schools to be highly successful and enriching for all who participate.
